

- updates to be done:
- A. We are finding the sunset has made it look like a bad heavenly image booklet, and has lost the architectural design brand language that's important to the brand. Can you take it back toward image 1 and 2 - but still have the same clouds.
 - B. We think the vines creeping up are just looking fake, we would like to revert to the more architectural roof and style of image 2, but take the brown column back to where the white one is above it..
 - C. Although the rocks were looking soo much better, we found the overall look just a bit cottagy and too pretty, we did a Chatgpg requesting stairs and we think this work better see in 3 and 4 below. I do think the option 4 is better where the steps are slightly in.
 - D. I'm not sure if it's because of the light on the leaves but the tree in the pot plant is looking too brown, maybe look at it when you take it back to not so heavenly, if not revert to the original tree but move it out of frame as in image 2
 - E. We are finding the pinkness of the flowers distracting and too pretty. You could see if you're able to find more lavender - or take them out completely as in 1 + 2
 - F. Raise the water level as per 3
 - G. Change the chairs + table to less cottagy more designy as per image 3
 - H. We prefer the more long grasses so you can see the fin .
