

A Form 2 is no longer required from the architectural professional under SANS 10400-XA Edition 2 if the design complies with the prescribed calculations. However, if it does not comply, a rational design is required from a competent person.